

Supporting Businesses in Giving Back.

Chairman,

The Many Helping Hands Approach!

There are many ways that corporations can support the vulnerable and those in need. Offering their professional resources and expertise is one way.

The ESG Coordination Office, operated by the Singapore Business Federation (SBF), was set up for businesses to play a more significant role in society.

Can MCCY share how it will work with the ESG Coordination Office to support businesses in integrating social impact into their business models, and what is the progress thus far?

The National Volunteer and Philanthropy Centre (NVPC) also has its Company of Good programme to encourage businesses to do good.

Can MCCY share how the ESG Coordination Office and NVPC partnership can synergise efforts and tell us more about its plans and other initiatives to encourage corporations and working professionals to contribute?

Thank you
